The school year 1968-69 was a special one for BHS. It marked the golden anniversaries for both the Homecoming festivities and the Pathfinder publication. A new assistant principal was groomed for life among the students of BHS and was accompanied by a host of young faculty members beginning their teaching career.

As the last year in the old building, '68-'69 recalls many memories which pieced together constitute the whole of BHS. As in years before, this establishment was reserved as the center of activities for many teenagers. The organizations, activities, and classes conducted in BHS will be left to rest for one summer, and when school begins anew next year, those who remain behind to carry out the duties of a proud and ambitious student body will nostalgically remember the various aspects of life within BHS.

"This is the Grayhound Daily with the morning announcements."...

...the famous words of Miss Dorothy Powell as she proclaims, "Students we're not talking, are we?"

...Homecoming night, and a saddened team is respected for the hard fought battle against an overpowering Bettendorf squad...

...the gumpoppingbookslamming sound of studyhall as it begins...

...the smoke penetrated walls and greasy hamburgers of Gibby's...

...the well constructed sentences that appear on the wood doors of the restrooms...

...the familiar "May I have your attention please?" from Mr. Loren Ratenkin...

...the whining tires interrupting classes on the Valley Street side...

...averted faces in vain attempts to conceal newly sprouted beards, mustaches, and sideburns from the faculty and administration.

...The never forgotten words of Mr. Robert Asmus as he cries, "Humphrey should have got it!..."

...the tangible silence of after school detention hour...

...uplifted faces, glancing at the art composition in the Northeast Gallery...

...the ecstatic look of success on the faces of those who have won an election...

...the anxious looks of seniors who plod down the hill to their commencement...

...the uproar as the 3:15 bell non-rings on the last day of school...

This is BHS 1968-69.

Rex,
 Well, we're at last. It doesn't seem possible. I couldn't have ever gotten through that last month without you. You were always there whenever I needed you and so that meant so much to me. You were always willing to help me whenever I needed it.
 It's just doesn't seem possible that I'm going with you just like you. It would really be have found someone like you. I could really stand it. I hope and pray we never, ever do. I never have loved anyone as much as I love you. I don't know if I could really stand it. I I'm really glad I never, ever do. I never have loved anyone you around going to have fun more at the court than time. I promise I'll help you now. I know you can be together a lot more now. I know want this summer play but this summer I know beat you. I'll help you whenever you want beat you at Biggie whenever you want also. Hope you'll play tennis with good good. Hope you'll play tennis with good low sport. I'll play tennis with good Nan always.

Rex Beetner (Class of 1970) + Nancy Butherus (Class of 1969)
